

Trail 6 Great Brook Bridge to NH 4A

Finding the Trailheads: The western trailhead is on Pleasant Street, which leaves New London's Main Street (NH 114) opposite the Tracey Memorial Library. Go northeast on Pleasant Street and park, after crossing Great Brook, in a New London Conservation Commission parking area on the right (2 mi.). The eastern trailhead is just off NH 4A, 2.4 mi. west of North Wilmot Road, at the intersection of Schoolhouse Road, where you park.

Total Distance: 3.2 miles
Total Ascents: 860 feet

Estimated time: 2 hours
Total Descents: 520 feet

Overview: This section of the SRKG, following the Wolf Tree Trail, parts of the Webb Forest Interpretive Trail and the White Pine Trail, is a mixture of well-developed wooded paths and woods logging roads, with two uphill sections. From an elevation of approximately 800 ft. at Pleasant Lake, the trail rises to 1500 ft., and then drops to 1200 ft. at US 4A. The SRKG is clearly marked by white trapezoids, including where it follows portions of New London Conservation Commission Trails, which have their own round red blazes.
